MyiLibrary e-books off-campus.

You may see this screen when you click to connect to the e-book from the library catalogue:

Ignore the username and password boxes and click on the Athens authentication link to be taken through to the e-book. In rare events you may be specifically asked for an Athens username and password. If this happens follow the instructions given in the Alternative Login route.

However, if the book can be downloaded to your device and you want to choose this option rather than reading online, you will need to create a personal account for MyiLibrary and use this when prompted.
